THE DEVIL AND SHERLOCK HOLMES
David Grann

"Each of the stories in this collection reveals a hidden and often dangerous world, pivoting around the gravitational pull of obsession and the captivating personalities of those caught in its grip. Throughout, Grann's accounts display the power and often the willful perversity of the human spirit, a mosaic of ambition, madness, passion, and folly."

EAARTH
Bill McKibben

"McKibben's earliest warnings about global warming went largely unheeded. In this book, he argues that we can meet the challenges of a new "Eaarth" still recognizable but suddenly and violently out of balance. By building the kind of societies and economies that can hunker down, concentrate on essentials, and create the type of community that will allow us to weather trouble on an unprecedented scale."

ANIMAL FACTORY
David Kirby

"In factory farms, thousands of animals are confined and rapidly fattened for slaughter, generating millions of gallons of animal waste, which is stored in open lagoons and sprayed into the air. Thanks to Kirby's extraordinary journalism, we have the most relatable, irrefutable, and unforgettable testimony yet to the hazards of industrial animal farming."

MEDIEVAL ENGLAND
Ian Mortimer

"In this compelling volume, medieval history expert Mortimer transports readers to jolly, squalid old England for a thorough survey of everyday 14th century life. The population is young. The idea that social classes were distinct and few gets exploded. He also looks at the role of that period's four greatest writers of the time, and reveals the horrors of contemporary medicine and law."

MOM STILL LIKES YOU BEST:
THE UNFINISHED BUSINESS
BETWEEN SIBLINGS
Jane Isay

"If you have a sibling, you'll see yourself in this inspiring book. Isay's observations are keen enough to make you see your mistakes, kind enough to let you forgive yourself, and hopeful enough to make you want to put the book down and call your sib right away."
