Lemonade Stand Money for the Library

Thanks to Katie and Caroline Flynn for their $5.80 donation to the library! Worried about the library budget, these clever young business people sold lemonade on a recent weekend and brought us their profits to help out.

We are very grateful to them for thinking of us and expressing their love of the library in this way.

Beginning in 2005, in just a few short years, YouTube has become one of the most highly visited user- oriented portals on the Web.

The Library now has its own account, and will be adding and revising videos to our YouTube account on a regular basis.

Recent videos include an explanation of the Global Road Warrior Database for students or travelers researching a country, and the Family College Planning Center, which will help students and parents achieve their educational and financial goals.

Good News for Book Clubs

Enough Copies For All Members

Does your book club have trouble finding enough copies of good titles for discussion? Now you can avoid last minute scurrying and borrow a set of books from the library:

Some great reads for discussion include:

The Invisible Wall: A Love Story that Broke Barriers, by Harry Bernstein

Dreams from My Father: A Story of Race and Inheritance, by Barack Obama

Out Stealing Horses, by Per Petterson
